BACKGROUND

Abbott Nutrition was built upon a proud heritage as a producer of nutritional products that encompass every stage of life for essential growth, development, and well-being. They are committed to the highest standards of quality, excellence and innovation.

Abbott's introduction of a new product line required modifications to their facility to provide a space for ready-to-feed (RTF) ingredients to accommodate production. We had previously completed office renovations for Abbott and were selected to retrofit this area of the plant.

CHALLENGES

Safety, Standards, Safety, Standards

Managing the construction time table after a radical change in scope, while conforming to additional job-specific safety and regulatory standards presented the biggest challenge.

- ⊙ Working in and maintaining a food-safe environment
- ⊙ Being clothed in additional attire, including hair nets, gowns, and shoe covers at all times
- ⊙ Stringent dust and containment controls
- ⊙ Meeting Biosite regulations and standards

FEATURES

Easy Clean Up And Efficient Productivity

- ⊙ Modern, convenient storage space for raw ingredients 'ready to feed' into the production line at Abbott
- ⊙ Two high-speed, automatic doors for unimpeded forklift travel
- ⊙ Industrial floor drains for easy clean up and containment

RESULT

Just In Time For Storage

Abbott remains true to the tenets upon which the company was founded— providing innovative and superior nutrition that advances the quality of life for people of all ages. As their name indicates— nutrition is their business. By converting valuable space, we provided a means for Abbott to quickly access their product and integrate their new product line.
